

OpenEdition Books Select is the first crowdfunding program for Open Access development in French-language scientific publishing. With OpenEdition Books Select, libraries can contribute to making high-quality French-language content available Open Access, provided by the key academic publishers in the humanities and social sciences. The program is led by OpenEdition, the French non-profit initiative promoting innovative and fair Open Access models, supported by the main French research institutions. The programme has been designed in cooperation with the french library consortium Couperin.

OpenEdition Books Select 2018: Bibliodiversity and Multilingualism

A transparent and sustainable model that meets the needs of the scientific community while promoting bibliodiversity and multilingualism. OpenEdition Books Select is a program that benefits the entire scientific community:

- Libraries can share costs and play an active role in spreading knowledge
- Authors can more easily and widely disseminate their findings
- Publishers get funds to secure Open Access
- Readers from all over the world can freely access multidisciplinary, peer-reviewed content in the Humanities and Social Sciences

Bibliodiversity and multilingualism are at the heart of OpenEdition's strategy, which is why a multilingual approach in academic publishing should be encouraged in the international context.
