

While the number of online publications of scholarly works within the field of Law is increasing, the number of OA publications have always been relatively low compared to other subjects. Books on legal aspects of all kinds of topics concerning digitalization are on the rise throughout all our series in Law, especially in areas like artificial intelligence, blockchain, robotic cars, crypto currencies, crypto investments, smart contracts, legal aspects of neuromarketing. And there is even more to be expected within the next 3 years.

Advancing OA in IT Law

- Peter Lang will make 10 frontlist titles per year in IT Law available Open Access. The KU library crowdfunding model will be used to collect library support for a three-year period starting in Spring of 2019
- In 2018, release 5 backlist titles free of charge to libraries
- The 10 outstanding monographs per year will be selected by a review board
- Prof. Dr. Thomas Hoeren, Law professor and a former Court of Appeal Judge with focus on Information and Media Law (Universität Münster) *
- Prof. Dr. Georgios Gounalakis, Professor of Civil Law, Private International Law, Comparative Law and Media Law (Philipps-Universität Marburg)
