

Knowledge Unlatched strengthens its presence in China

Berlin, May 11th, 2020 - Knowledge Unlatched (KU), the international Open Access initiative, is expanding its cooperation with trade partners around the world to further intensify its services to libraries in an important region.

"We are pleased that libraries in the People's Republic of China (mainland China, Hongkong, Macau and Taiwan) are now able to work with KU via their local supplier," says Catherine Anderson, Head of Sales at KU. "Cooperation with established library suppliers is an important pillar of our work."

The new trade partner joining the KU team is Asia China Educational Publications Import & Export Corporation (CEPIEC). In total, KU now works with ten trade partners around the world.
